WASHINGTON, April 28.—In the House a copy of the new constitution of South Carolina was laid before the House and referred to the Reconstruction Committee. Bills [illegible] South Carolina, North Carolina and [illegible] were [illegible] [illegible] Senate [illegible] sale [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Alexander [illegible] Navy Department was [illegible] Washington [illegible]

Impeachment

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Senator S[illegible] offered a [illegible] providing that on final [illegible] the Senate [illegible] sit [illegible] in [illegible]. Objected to and laid over.

Mr. Williams then resumed his argument of yesterday. Williams took up the subject of the President's alleged just dealing by reason of the advice given by [illegible] [illegible]. He held that the President [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] their post [illegible]. He argued that the suspension of Stanton was [illegible] under the tenure of office law, which the President thereby acknowledged. He maintained that the arrest of civil [illegible] was not necessary in this case as in all others, it was inferred from the act itself. He [illegible] the conduct of Johnson with that of James II and said it only remained to be seen whether the parallel would be completed. He contended that the safety of the people, which is the supreme law, is the only law by which this case could be properly tried. It was belittled by the trivial and unimportant legal technicalities. He [illegible] the Senate to take a large view. In conclusion he said the result of the trial would determine whether the President or Senate would go down. He depicted a series of fearful consequences which would follow from acquittal. The Senate then took a recess.

After reassembling, Butler arose and said he desired to make a few remarks in justice to [illegible]. In correcting [illegible] certain statements made by S[illegible] [illegible] about the [illegible] case. Butler said the declaration by Nelson was that [illegible] (Butler) signed a document March 9th after the impeachment resolution had passed the House which document was also signed by Bingham Logan and [illegible]. He said he had signed such a paper without date in the early part of February long before the impeachment articles had passed. This paper was taken by [illegible] and dated March 9th in hope of making a [illegible] against them as Managers of the House. Butler characterized Nelson's statement as false in every particular and known to be so by any one familiar with the facts. He read an affidavit from Jerry Black and Col [illegible] in support of this view.

Butler's remarks caused considerable excitement, and [illegible] no sooner taken his seat than Nelson sprang to his feet, defended the position he had taken and hurled back with indignation and scorn Butler's remarks. Such foul mouthed remarks as had just been made by Mr Butler, he said, he would not be guilty of using. Nelson was proceeding in this style when Senator Yates arose and called the attention of the Chief Justice to Nelson's remarks, who called him to order. Nelson said he would try to keep within bounds but he was excited, and thanked Senator Yates for his remarks. He said he had all the letters in the case and would read them tomorrow. Nelson continued for some time and was interrupted by Butler who asked him if he knew what he was saying. Nelson then apologized for certain words and withdrew them.

After the conclusion of Nelson's remarks Evarts commenced his argument amid close attention of the crowded galleries and a well filled Senate chamber. He occupied the [illegible] half an hour [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] for long [illegible] of impeachment at all. He will occupy today and tomorrow in making his argument.

Evarts' Speech on Impeachment.

CHICAGO, April 29.—The following is an extract of the exordium of Evarts speech in the impeachment trial yesterday. He will commence the argument to-day. [illegible] opening remarks he referred to the grave character of the case and the impossibility of human prescience foreseeing the results which would flow from it. He favored [illegible] appeal for circumspection and impartiality [illegible] consideration. Briefly viewing the issues involved in the few impeachment trials which have taken place in our country, he spoke of their utter insignificance [illegible] the one now presented. He should call their attention to [illegible] [illegible] results which would follow the decision. If the President is acquitted the Government will [illegible] as before. Congress and the Executive will resume their proper functions. In case of conviction [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] will arise one branch of the Government will be divested of its prerogative. The President will be succeeded by a member of this body which has deposed him. This he maintained was the trial of reconstruction. Referring to the Supreme Court as the respected and cherished guardian of the people's liberty, he alluded to the fact of Congress having recently prevented the exercise of rightful jurisdiction [illegible] Congress was also attacking the other co-ordinate [illegible] of the Government. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] for a decision which should restrain that aggressive [illegible] [illegible] limits. The oath of the President was not merely a common oath to faithfully discharge the duties of his high office but included the [illegible] obligation to preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States and the people have firmly [illegible] will adhere to the determination that the oath shall not be taken in vain. They are experts [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]. When they lost that this sword of impeachment is drawn they wish to know what crime it is with which the President is charged and for which it is sought [illegible] him. They [illegible] what treason and bribery are in all their [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] but they are told his crime is having [illegible] [illegible] of his Cabinet, and are told that it becomes a crime because Congress for the first time in the history of the Government, has made it so. He undertook to make ad interim a Secretary of War and are in consequence they [illegible] have made [illegible] an ad interim President. They also ascertain that no force was employed and [illegible] removal made except on paper and for the purpose of [illegible] the decision of the Supreme Court [illegible] [illegible] which [illegible] was at once taken by those making the accusation. In short he said the people are [illegible] a question of supremacy between Congress and the [illegible] [illegible]. They did [illegible] hold the idea that the Constitution was [illegible] [illegible] in its infancy but felt that it was to be the guide and [illegible] of our matured manhood, and were determined this law should continue to be the guiding star of liberty.

Referring then to the position assumed by the managers that this tribunal is not a court he said it was the first time he ever knew a prosecutor to make the assertion that his case was coram non judice, but they probably [illegible] that the way to prove their case from being [illegible] [illegible] was to turn the court out of the case. As to English precedents [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] that this body was not a court, he said that [illegible] was the supreme [illegible] of that nation [illegible] impeachment was only a [illegible] [illegible] its judicial [illegible], which view he supported by authority of Chancellor Thurlow.

He said that it was not the altar of sacrifice. He said the Managers had taken [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] spirit of party hate which had hurried proceedings [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] made by the Managers in the present trial. He called attention to the words of one of the Managers who spoke of the Senators as [illegible] standing in [illegible] [illegible] with their swords ready as they [illegible] [illegible] on the night of February [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] he characterized as insulting to the Court and unwarrantable.

He then read from the debates on the formation of the Constitution to show that the power to impeach and try the President was granted and the Senate [illegible] [illegible] of the reliance placed on their observance of a judicial oath.

Mr Evarts then dwelt on the tremendous [illegible] [illegible] of these little words truth oath [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] their integrity truly and justly to observe their oaths and perform their solemn duties.

LONDON, April 28.—At midnight in the House of Lords Derby attacked the resolutions of Gladstone on the Irish [illegible] [illegible] Russell [illegible] [illegible] his post [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]. He said the resolutions adopted [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] without binding force on the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] passed it would be [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Lord Russell and alluded to his views [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] scheme and Ireland [illegible] [illegible] [illegible].

Lord Russell said he was amazed to see Lord Derby [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] pending in the lower House, and he declared with much earnestness that [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] was the aim of his life. That [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] attained its acknowledgment [illegible] [illegible] the difficulties in Ireland but accepted Gladstone's plan as most [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] circumstances. In case the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] House he should submit an appropriate [illegible] which he ventured would be sustained [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] without [illegible] and the assent of the Senate. He hoped the ministry would not attempt to influence the crown adversely to the will of the Commons, as a collision between the crown and Commons would be a result to be deplored.

In the House Disraeli in announcing the question from the opposition, said the ministry wished the fullest discussion of the Irish church establishment question.

Gladstone hoped the debate would not delay the business of the House.

He was with them when the attack on Chester was planned. When trouble broke out in Ireland the principal English cities were to be fired and destroyed.

A LAUGHING WITNESS.—The following is from the Chicago Tribune's Washington dispatch of April 1st. It shows that the dull gravity of the impeachment trial has occasionally been enlivened by a laughable episode.

The evidence was attentively listened to by all present and the examination of the next witness gave rise to continued and violent laughter on all sides. Mr Karsner of Delaware is one of the large farmers of that State, a Delaware boy as he termed himself though some forty five years of age. He was perfectly unconcerned and apparently ignorant that either his style or words were in the least laughable. But the account of his visit to the White House, his meeting General Thomas in the East Room telling him that the eyes of Delaware were upon him, and that Delaware expected something of him, and his relating it all afterwards to a man named Smith and whose first name was not John, but William, was droll to the last degree. The Chief Justice laughed till he shook. The counsel laughed and the Managers put their heads down on the table and laughed till the tumblers rattled on it. Senators held their sides and laughed, the galleries responded heartily and in fact the whole audience official and unofficial and the inside of the chamber shook till the old comparison to the bowl of jelly was quite applicable to the audience. As a whole it is safe to say that there has never been such a general and long-continued laughter in the Senate Chamber before.

The Democratic Legislature of Ohio has passed a law declaring a visible admixture of [illegible] blood to work forfeiture of the franchise, a law excluding visible admixture children from the public schools, a law disfranchising students at college, a law declaring it a penal offence for a United States officer to arrest a citizen of Ohio, a law to impose Democratic administrations upon Republican cities. The last one of these measures passed on Wednesday, is particularly aimed at Cleveland and its passage was celebrated by a glorious drunk at the Neil House, Columbus. The Governor of Ohio is not clothed with the veto power.

The Charleston papers say that crowds of Northern tourists visit the ruins of Fort Sumter almost daily. A regular packet runs from the city to the ruined fort and seldom fails of a full complement of sight-seeking passengers. Nearly all carry baskets in which they [illegible] and carry away scraps of iron and other [illegible].

A Mr Simpson, a Washington lawyer, was recently robbed in Paris. In the course of the trial the [illegible] [illegible] the prisoner. The police found [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] a pair of pantaloons which [illegible] incident fatal to [illegible] bore the owner's name written in full in the pockets. The Americans are a people of foresight and they are right in being so."

To those who Prefer the Unity of the Nation to the Success of any Party.

EDITOR OREGONIAN

Allow me the privilege of making through the columns of the OREGONIAN a few plain statements the truth of which no candid man of either party can controvert, for the purpose of showing why no consistent thinker can support the Democratic party.

Any one who is familiar with the record of the men comprising that party, will be surprised at their audacity in claiming to have assisted in quelling the rebellion and that they did in no way interpose any obstacle to the war for the Union.

Now, those who believe the South was right in seceding, thereby producing war, cannot [illegible] the Government did right in opposing its rebellious efforts. One right cannot be directly opposed to another right. All right must harmonize. Hence, this class, believing in the practice of rebels, must be secessionists at heart, and would have needed only courage and the Southern sun to have developed them into fighting traitors. They should now be true to themselves in continuing to boldly denounce the war and oppose all its results or, if they have come to believe the aims of the rebels were wrong, and were frustrated by the Union arms, they should frankly acknowledge it and unite themselves to the Union party. If they do not like the [illegible] of the Union party, then in clinging to the Democratic party they should so shape its course as to secure the results of the war, or, failing in this, they should withdraw from all party contests, and let the issues be decided by those who can act conscientiously upon them. But the Democratic party is not thus controlled. It is pursuing a course calculated to reproduce the [illegible] issues that are or should have been [illegible] by the war. Hence its votaries are either dishonest or ignorant of the effects of its teachings, or ignorant of its aims or they believe the war [illegible] and the South right. This last is truly the [illegible] of the mass of that party. Now can any consistent man who believes the rebels in the wrong side with the Democracy? No. "Candid" but [illegible] Democrats who lead, artfully contrive to maintain both of these positions to unite both [illegible], and eventually to unite them on the side of the divine right of [illegible].

Now to those who honestly believe the Democracy did nothing to aid the rebellion I address one proposition. This annunciation carries with it the acknowledgment that the South was [illegible] and the Government right, also, that the [illegible] an organized body, were warring with the Government. Here were two forces contending for the mastery. In the nature of things both could not succeed. There could be but three parties, one for the South, one for the Union, and the other neutral. Now, there were five courses the Democracy could have pursued: they could have weakened the power of the rebels, they could have strengthened the armies of the Union, they could have been neutral, they could have strengthened the rebels, or they could have [illegible] the powers of the Government. Either the first or second would have been loyal, the third neutral, and either the fourth or fifth would have been traitorous. Now which did they do? Will any candid Democrat honestly answer this question? No, they dare not, for they did all in their power to weaken the armies of the Union, which [illegible] they now say might have battled in a just [illegible] against a wrong that ought to have [illegible] suppressed. Hence they were traitorous, but now come before the people with this mask of [illegible] on their faces which they attempt to [illegible] with a lie upon their lips. Truly the advocates of error are brazen, and prejudice mistakes the brass for gold.

Their incon[illegible] acts will more [illegible] their audacity. They asserted that the [illegible] could never be conquered, and wished they [illegible] might be forced to yield—now appear to rejoice that they were defeated.

They excited rebel enthusiasm at the [illegible] of national success, by declaring the war for the Union a failure—now herald themselves as the defenders of the nation.

They denounced the war as "[illegible]" and "unconstitutional," now after its success, laud it as glorious when there is a war Democrat they wish to capture.

They denounced the soldiers who fought, as "Lincoln's hirelings," "Hessians," and [illegible] their victory extended to them Democratic sympathy (!) and promised, in the event of that party's getting into power, they should receive "all care, protection, regard and kindness."

They branded Union Generals with opprobrious epithets now, when they wish one as a Democratic candidate for President, [illegible] call him a hero.

They denounced the issue of United States notes now are in favor of flooding the country with them.

They were willing to enter into an [illegible], with final dismemberment as the only alternative, afterwards indicated their desire for rebel [illegible] by rejoicing in their victories and opposing every measure calculated to maintain the unity of the nation now proclaim themselves as the guardians of the Constitution.

They encouraged assassination; after its consummation, feigned to weep.

They are in favor of the nation's yielding its most sacred obligations and promises, and at the same time proclaim themselves the protectors of the integrity of the country.

Evidently no consistent man can cling to or vote with the Democracy. BILLOW.

Judge Grier's Lament

[From the Chicago Tribune]

Judge Grier of the United States Supreme Court was very bitter when he found that the McArdle case had escaped him, and that his opportunity to embarrass the execution of the laws and delay reconstruction was lost. He declared that the case was one "which involved not only liberty and rights of the appellant but of millions of our fellow-citizens."

The facts of the case may be briefly stated thus:

1 The right to appeal to the United States Supreme Court for the decision of a District Court upon a habeas corpus case, never existed until after the passage of the act of February 5 1867.

2 For the eighty years which elapsed between the date of the Federal Constitution and the date of the act of Congress of 1867, "the liberty and rights of the millions of our fellow-citizens" of the United States in behalf of which Judge Grier is so valiant, were left wholly uncared for. The Democratic party during its sixty years of power, never thought of this great protection to the liberty and rights of the millions of our fellow citizens.

4 All legislation looking towards a revision of State decisions affecting the personal liberty of the citizen by the Supreme Court of the United States has been opposed by the Democratic party.

5 When in 1867 this bill was proposed, all the Democrats in Congress voted against it on the ground that the liberty and rights of some of the millions of negroes in the country might find protection under it.

Judge Grier is a very old man and has been a good lawyer in his day, though of the Taney proslavery pattern but his memory cannot run back to the time when his party ever favored any law like that which he now declares to be necessary to the protection of millions of American citizens.

The New York correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger says: "The Western Democrats are still clamorous, and it is said, as to speaks for the removal of Mr. August Belmont from the position he occupies in the National Democratic Executive Committee. Prominent Ohio and Illinois Democrats are here using their influence to induce him to resign. They consider him a stumbling block in Mr Pendleton's way, and as such, a very good man to be rid of. But Mr Belmont, it is probable, will not budge to oblige them."

The Culprit's Plea

The defense on the part of the President is singularly inconsistent and contradictory. Stripped of the irrelevant matter with which it is [illegible], it consists of, 1st, a denial that in removing Secretary Stanton he violated any law; and 2d, a plea that his object in making the removal was to have the law tested as to its constitutionality This is the way in which his counsel have worked up his defense Johnson affects to deny that he has broken the law, and then pleads by way of justification that his object in breaking it was to obtain a judicial decision as to its validity. This defense is something like that which was entered before a country magistrate in a case where a party was sued for breaking an iron kettle which had been loaned him by the plaintiff. That defense was, 1st, that the kettle was broken when borrowed, 2d, it was whole when returned, 3d, defendant never had the kettle. Quite as logical and [illegible] is this denial by the President of having violated the law, followed by an admission that he did violate it deliberately and for a [illegible] purpose Such a defense is characteristic and worthy of Andrew Johnson.

[illegible] by his own action in relation to the tenure of office law, he is estopped from denying its validity. On a former occasion he [illegible] Secretary Stanton under its provisions, and after the Senate had reassembled he sent to that body, as required by the law, his [illegible] for having suspended him The Senate held these reasons insufficient, and Stanton was reinstated So far, Johnson had [illegible] according to the law and distinctly [illegible] its authority and obligations But [illegible] he could not get the Secretary out in this way, he ignored the law, attempted arbitrarily to remove him, and tried to find refuge in the plea that the law which he had before [illegible] recognized and observed, was without binding force.

By [illegible] this course and attempting this [illegible] of defense, the President virtually [illegible] the whole case against him His [illegible] is that he cannot be punished for [illegible], because criminal intent was [illegible]. The [illegible] answer to this is that the law [illegible] criminal intent on the part of [illegible]. The defense which has [illegible], [illegible] admitting as it does by [illegible] that Johnson violated the law is merely an appeal to the mercy of the court of impeachment. This attempt to [illegible] to convict. The culprit [illegible] be judged by his own plea

[illegible] to Reducing Taxes.

The [illegible] of Congress in reducing the national expenditures and then reducing the taxes in a corresponding degree, is received most [illegible] by the Democratic party [illegible] of their papers take it in high dudgeon. Democratic orators and Democratic [illegible] have hugely enjoyed the [illegible] of belaboring the taxation rendered [illegible] by the Democratic rebellion. But Congress, having got the rebellion subdued, and the army and navy reduced to a peace standard, has been able to reduce the expenditures [illegible] half the tax This is worse than the former condition of things The Chicago Times in the extremity of its [illegible] says:

> "[illegible] of this tax is a swindle. It is [illegible] to manufacturers; and, therefore, is a [illegible] measure. As a large share of the manufacturing of the country is done in New England, the act is especially for the benefit of New England.
> "In other words, New England is by this act exempted from paying some seventy five millions which it has hitherto paid for the support of the government. As there is no accompanying reduction of expenditures, it must follow that the seventy-five millions which New England has no longer to pay must be collected from other tax-payers."

This, surely, is an intelligent argument! A tax on manufactures is not paid by the manufacturer, but by the consumer Hence these seventy-five millions of taxes are not lifted from the manufacturing establishments of New England, but from the people in all parts of the country who consume their products. The assertion that there has been no reduction of expenditures, says the Chicago Tribune, is contradicted by the proceedings of Congress, where the estimates for the army, navy, civil service, foreign intercourse and ordinary expenses of the government for the year 1868–9 have been reduced to within a few millions of the average expenditures in gold, in Buchanan's time The interest on the [illegible], the pensions and the bounties, are extraordinary expenditures, which Congress cannot reduce. But all other charges upon the Treasury have been brought down to the lowest possible sum.

The authorship of some of the correspondence which appears in the Herald from time to time may seem somewhat mysterious to the uninitiated; but when it is remembered that there is a so-called barrister connected with that concern, who has nothing to do but write such things whenever directed, there will be no occasion for further embarrassment on the subject Two or three letters have recently appeared in that paper purporting to have been written by Irishmen, which are clearly traceable by their style to certain of the hangers-on about the "organ" Qu. Whether some of these ready writers who have no visible means of support are not maintained by the plunder which the "organ" obtains from the city treasury?

A Washington letter of March 25th says, "Mr Corbett, from the Committee on Commerce has reported a bill establishing as a new collection district all that part of the State of Oregon lying south of Cape Perpetua It is to be called the Umpqua District, and Coos Bay is made its port of entry, where the Collector shall reside His salary is fixed at $1,500 per annum

The War among the "Democracy" about Greenbacks

In discussing the greenback question Gov Seymour the mouthpiece of Eastern Democracy, says "There is nothing to fear from those who think by the contract you should take paper, if they take a course which will make that paper as good as gold." In other words, he would not pay the bonds in greenbacks, unless the greenbacks should be brought up to the specie standard This position such papers as the La Crosse Democrat call a swindle Seymour scorns the idea of trying to "save" anything to the nation by giving the public creditor a depreciated currency He says "in order to make any saving by giving the bond-holder a debased and worthless paper, we would bring upon ourselves disaster and dishonor, which will cost a hundred fold what we can save The New York Day Book, as well as the La Crosse Democrat, denounces Seymour's speech because it does not come out squarely for repudiation It says such a debt as ours inevitably enslaves and destroys the people, and the burden must somehow be lifted off, that Seymour's speech does not meet the question and "the people will not be put off with anything less than some definite and tangible plan for their immediate relief The relief which the repudiating wing of the "Democracy" demands is an issue of greenbacks to the full amount of the debt and the forced substitution of them for the bonds Seymour tells how this would work in the following paragraph, which we give for the purpose of showing how irreconcilably at war the two wings of the Democratic party are

> It is a mistake to suppose that they are mostly held by capitalists Large sums belonging to children and widows under the order of courts or the actions of trustees have been invested in government bonds The vast amount held by life and fire insurance companies and savings banks are in fact held in trust for and are the reliance of the great body of active business and laboring men, of women or of widows and orphans The savings banks of this State, which are the depositories of the poor or of persons of limited means, hold about sixty million of dollars of government bonds The whole amount held in the State of New York in the various forms of trust will not fall below two hundred million dollars. If we look into other States we shall see that only a small share of these bonds are held by men known as capitalists But they belong in fact, if not in form, to the business, the active and laboring members of society The destruction of these securities would make a widespread ruin and distress which would reach into every workshop and every home, however humble We are not influenced in our views either by hostility to or regard for the wealthy, but with a sole purpose to do right.

Butler's great speech on impeachment fills about fifteen columns in the small type of the great papers of New York, and is therefore too long for our columns We should, however, be glad to print it, were it possible for us to do so, as it certainly is one of the most able, argumentative and learned oratorical efforts ever made in this country Indeed we know not whether for extent of research, for directness of argument, and for the skill with which its ample materials are handled, this speech has an equal in American oratory It does not consist merely of grand and lofty declamation, like the principal efforts of great English orators in cases of impeachment, but is admirably adapted in style and structure to the actual requirements of the case now under consideration in the grand inquest of the nation. This speech is a most powerful presentation of the case against Andrew Johnson, and should be read by all who are desirous of obtaining a clear view of the great impeachment trial

A friend just returned from the East has put in our possession a fac simile copy of the letter written by ex-President Pierce to Jeff Davis in 1860, encouraging him to rebellion, and telling him that if fighting should ensue it would be "in our own borders and on our streets" This letter, reproduced with the accuracy of photography from Pierce's own handwriting, was scattered by thousands throughout New Hampshire in the late campaign, and did great service for the Republican cause We will guarantee any one a round sum who will discover and reproduce in like manner the secession manifesto which the Democratic Governor of Oregon published in 1861.

We notice in the list of passengers by the John L. Stephens from California the name of Beriah Brown, and refer to the circumstance for the purpose of introducing him anew to this community by the following first rate sketch from the San Francisco Chronicle

SKETCHES BIOGRAPHICAL—BERIAH BROWN.

This man is notorious, both for his own length and that of his editorials He can write more and say less than any man in existence In all probability he will never die. Death has made several unsuccessful attempts to nab him, but Beriah always springs a political discussion on him and bores him out of all patience Consequently death left in disgust. THE END

True Hearts of Fire
(From the Unionist)

Not long ago we said that enlightened Irish Americans had perceived the impolicy of any longer immolating themselves and their national cause to the fallen Democratic party. We said that they are ready to abandon the guilty malefactor, and to unite their fortunes with that party of conquest, of progress and moral influence, which will be able to exercise some force on the sentiment of nations, in relation to the condition of Ireland. That we were not mistaken, already appears in the proceedings of a recent meeting at Portland, which are published in this paper It is observed that the meeting was countenanced and conducted by the most noted and influential Irish citizens of that place, who set forth their views in a series of resolutions which will have great weight with their countrymen throughout Oregon, and even beyond the limits of the State In addition to that Mr. McCormick's able, elaborate and unequivocal letter is vastly significant of what his Irish compatriots intend to do Heretofore, Mr. McCormick has taken little or no part in our State and national politics, but has given his attention and energies chiefly to the one cause which lies nearest to every true Irishman's heart—the delivery of his native country and emancipation of his kindred from the heavy burdens of misgovernment and the hollow jaws of famine But, at length, in common with many of the leading minds of his people, he has come to the conclusion that the surest way to accomplish the great result is to build up and strength en the only great national power that can consistently and effectually interpose between Ireland and her oppressors Please refer to the resolutions and correspondence, which clearly and forcibly express the views and conclusions of the leading Irishmen in Oregon, and which, in their political relations, are vastly important

They have done wisely. The Irish people of the United States have far too long clung to a party which is in the pangs of dissolution and the throes of exorcism Destroy or enfeeble the overawing powers of the United States, and whither in the wide world may wretched Ireland look for deliverance What, then, would signify the Green Banner, the Harp and the Sunburst? The first would be only the melancholy relic of a lost nationality, the second would be like the plaintive instruments which the daughters of Zion hung on the willows by Babel's streams to moan perpetually and unattuned as their broken strings were torn by unfeeling winds, the other would be only an ignis fatuus from the graves of nations, rising in bitter mockery over the wreck of a brave but unfortunate country, whose princes and nobility wander in exile, or swing the heavy implements of labor in strange lands Happy it is for Ireland that while some of her people have been too long deceived and led astray by American traitors, other of her sons have been found on every battle field of Freedom faithful to the country whose hospitable shores have given them sanctuary With ourselves, they believe that when this nation falls a prey to anarchy or disunion, Ireland's last hope will perish, and that while Irish Liberty, robed in her shroud turns back from the door of the sepulchre to bless her faithful sons in America, she will linger a little longer to curse the others with the bitter malediction of disappointed maternity—she who watched over the man child that slept under the thatch hoping that under his snowy forehead and heaving bosom the germs of eloquence and valor repose and that he would reach the stature of a giant wrench off her fetters, and tear the iron crown from the bruised and bleeding temples of his country.

We will hope that the noble example of the Portland Irish Americans will be emulated, not only throughout Oregon but likewise in the Territories and in California It is full time for the friends of Freedom, everywhere and of every nativity to cut loose from that shattered wreck, which is soon to go down forever in the hungry gulf of oblivion Let them do that only subscribing to the resolutions which we have quoted and at once that latent sympathy which is inherent in the American heart will be kindled to a living fire, and it will go hard with this Republic, if means be not found, before many years to uplift the crushed Shamrock from the Plains of Prostration.

[illegible] to New York.—The San Francisco Agent of the North American Steamship Company has received instructions to send no more passengers by the Nicaragua route All the steamers hereafter will land their passengers at Panama This will enable the Company to make two trips a month each way, and compete more closely with the vessels of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company This active opposition will tend to reduce both the passenger and freight prices to the lowest possible remunerative rates

COUGHS.—The administration of medicinal preparations in the form of a lozenge is of all modes the most eligible and convenient, more especially as regards a COUGH REMEDY "Brown's Bronchial Troches" or Cough Lozenges, allay irritation which induces coughing giving instant relief in Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Influenza, and Consumptive and Asthmatic complaints

[illegible] adjourned.

[illegible] Terminus Discovered.—The problem concerning the terminus of the Northern Pacific Railroad has been happily solved. The men who went from here [illegible] to discover the locality where the iron [illegible] the fleets of the world, and give and take [illegible] may be worth mentioning in the transportation [illegible] of the world's commerce, have returned [illegible] found the place without serious difficulty and, like [illegible] men we always gave them credit for [illegible] gobbled it—partly by purchase and somewhat [illegible]. Not being definitely informed as to the [illegible] of the city hereafter to grow thereon, they [illegible] and bought or located all the sur[illegible] tracts, and christened the city, Commencement. [illegible] portion of the city in which the depot is to [illegible] is about half way between Steilacoom and Se[illegible] not far from the Puyallup river. The water [illegible] is just opposite very deep and very wet, [illegible] land is gently sloping, very gravelly and very [illegible] tances which, combined, point out the locality as having been manufactured expressly for the [illegible] a great commercial city. Just at [illegible] the gravel foundation is covered with a healthy [illegible] trees; but even this may be considered a [illegible] chance, in much so, coupled with the [illegible] and aridity, it forestalls the possi[illegible] that the town site will ever be spoiled by [illegible] it into a potato patch, a cow pasture or [illegible]. The municipal government of the city and [illegible] of the city printing, are not matters [illegible] of great importance during the present [illegible] of the future, we are not so well pre[illegible] the returns from that ward are not [illegible] official census taken immediately after [illegible] of the city reveals the fact that the [illegible] is not large, though it is hoped that in time [illegible]. This is altogether possible, and it may [illegible] an exaggeration to say that it is probable. The [illegible] of the Northern Pacific Railroad have not yet [illegible] signified their adoption of the city as the terminus of their road; but they probably will as soon as [illegible] is called to the matter—unless they may [illegible] other views. It is understood that when the work [illegible] shall begin, no Chinaman need apply. We [illegible] well mention here, that this side has been selected without any regard to the vexed question of mounting [illegible] previous surveys, so that the future [illegible] and prosperity of the city cannot be affected by any such secondary questions as the practicability of this [illegible] or that route. The end sought is the end of the railroad. The end is found and, now, there can be no [illegible] on the part of any reasonable man to the im[illegible] of the balance of the road.

[illegible] Hall at Oregon City.—Yesterday afternoon, [illegible] Mr John Nestor, architect, on board the [illegible] just about to start to Oregon City, for the purpose of [illegible] arrangements concerning the construction of a building for the Odd Fellows of that place [illegible] with him the plans and specifications of a handsome [illegible] by eighty feet and two stories high [illegible] is to be soon commenced. The lower story will be [illegible] for a store and the upper story will be used as a [illegible]. The lodge at Oregon City has far outgrown its [illegible] accommodations, and a larger hall has become [illegible] necessity. A course of public lectures, the proceeds of which are considerable and [illegible] be applied to the new building, was recently concluded by Dr. Wythe's [illegible] on "Labor."

[illegible] for Portland.—The steamer John L. Stephens brought up five hundred tons of merchandise consigned [illegible] to business houses in this city.

[illegible].—The John L. Stephens, will sail for San [illegible] on Friday at 8 o'clock P. M. The Active will [illegible] time for Victoria.

The New York Dry Goods and Woolens Markets.—The San Francisco Bulletin's commercial letter from New York under date of March 28th, has the following:

There has been a general break down in cotton goods within the last two or three days—the decline on Sheetings and Shirtings and Prints, varying from 2 to 3c per yard. Brown Sheetings, 36-inch, are down to 14@17c for leading makes, and bleached goods, such as Bartlett's, Appleton's, Lawrence, 36-inch, 16½@17c, Wamsutta [illegible] inch, and New York Mills, 36-inch—the popular favorites are quoted respectively at 25@29c. Leading makes of Prints are 11½@13½c. The decline is the result of rivalry among the heavy houses, and is quite as much because goods are relatively much cheaper than the raw material. Other Cottons have not varied much. The productions of Woolens sell well and at fair prices, under the combinations lately formed among manufacturers and Wool operators, to help the Woolen interest out of the "slough of despond." The Dry Goods shipments to your market continue free both via the Cape and the Isthmus.

A Case of Suffering.—We learned yesterday that George T. [illegible] who, it will be recollected, received a pistol shot wound in the leg, some weeks ago has suffered a relapse and is now in an almost helpless condition, and that his family is lost of the necessaries of life. His long confinement has of course, prevented him from earning anything and the constant attention which his wife has had to bestow on him has prevented her from doing anything. The family is in the midst of a [illegible]. Mr. James Partlow was yesterday circulating a subscription for their relief, and we were glad to learn that he was meeting with fair success. The unfortunate man is entitled to the sympathies of the people of this city and we trust that Mr. Partlow's appeal will not be made in vain.

Life Insurance.—There are lively times just now among the life insurance agents—column stories, replies and rejoinders every morning before breakfast. The contest for the possession of the public ear goes on briskly. Under the circumstances, it must be a consoling thing to the families and friends of the several agents to know that they (the agents) have all taken out life policies, each in the best Life Insurance Company in existence, so that when it comes to eating an opposition agent for breakfast every morning, the surviving relatives may have something substantial to fall back upon—as it were, a quid pro quo.

Watch Recovered.—Yesterday when the Senator came down, Charles Pope brought along a Kanaka diver to Oswego and sent him down after the gold watch he lost overboard last Monday. The first dive was successful, the Kanaka bringing up the watch from a depth of fifteen feet. Upon reaching the bottom he found that he had descended within three feet of the watch. An examination of the repeater showed that it had received no material damage. Charley, when asked how he could so accurately designate the spot where his time-piece went down, explained that he took sight and then cut a notch on the steamer's rail!

Chinamen Wanted.—Wa Kee & Co, the contractors with the east side railroad, finding it impracticable to procure here all the workmen wanted, have sent out agents to other towns where Chinamen most do congregate to engage laborers. We learn that many of those who struck for higher wages or shorter days, returned yesterday to their regular "sits" on the railroad, and that the places of others were supplied. The boss Whang Doodle (Chinaman) was in the city yesterday, and he says that everything is lovely. The fellows that quit were no muchee good anyhow, and he was delighted to be rid of them.

Personal.—Among the passengers who arrived on the steamer yesterday morning, were Judge Deady who has been for some weeks in San Francisco, holding a term of the U S Circuit Court in the place of Judge Fields, Frank Ellsworth, formerly of this city who comes here to represent the Manhattan Life Insurance Co, Major Sanderson of Warrens Diggings, who has just returned from a visit to his friends in the East, and who is now on his way to resume business in the mines, and several other gentlemen of note.

Oregon Products.—Arrived yesterday per steamer Senator, 3 hlf bbls dried apples, 6 gunnies bacon, 1 box eggs, 270 boxes apples, 105 bags wheat, 506 sks feed, and 10 tons pig iron. Per Wenat, 218 bags wheat and 10 tons pig iron. Per Alert 24 hlf bbls dried apples, 216 gr sks and 6,000 hoop poles.

Selling Off—Great Bargains.—Our lady readers should by all means read the new advertisement of Mrs C Levy, who proposes to sell off her entire stock of goods before the 1st of August, at prices to defy competition. There will doubtless be a rare chance for good bargains.

Broker.—Pat Smith has opened a broker's office at No. 90 Front street, where he will deal in Legal Tender notes, U S bonds, vouchers, loans, gold dust, etc., etc. Pat is well known in Portland and needs no puffing. Give him a call.

Democratic Convention.—The Democratic Convention for Multnomah county will be held to-day in this city, for the purpose of nominating a ticket to be supported at the coming election.

Tearing Down to Build.—The old Mansion House, on Front street, is being torn down to give place to a large brick store to be built this season, by Messrs Moffatt & Strowbridge.

Direct from the East.—Any person who thinks it will not pay to import direct from the East, has only to visit the store of Currier & Co., 103 Front street, to be convinced that goods bought in New York can be sold cheaper than goods bought in San Francisco.

Change of Base.—Nathaniel Thwing will open in a few days his saddlery store at No. 56 Front street, where he will be pleased to meet his friends and customers.

New Style Business Coats.—Borman Bros, new business coats are the most elegant garments in Portland. Their new shaped pantaloons are worn by all fashionable men. The suits made in their merchant tailoring establishment are now leading the fashions in Portland.

Furniture.—We call the attention of those in want of furniture, to the advertisement of Hargreen & Shindler. We have seen their warerooms, and must say that we have never seen a finer selection of furniture. Messrs. H. & S. have a well established business, buying their Eastern goods direct from the manufacturers. Parties purchasing in their line, may rely upon honorable dealing and low prices.

HOSTETTER'S

CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS!

A Pure and Powerful Tonic,

Corrective and Alterative, of wonderful efficacy in Diseases of the STOMACH, LIVER AND BOWELS.

PROTECTIVE PROPERTIES.

Prevents Fever and Ague and Billious Remittent Fevers; Fortifies the System against Miasma and the evil effects of unwholesome water; invigorates the organs of digestion and the bowels, Steadies the Nerves and tends to Prolong Life.

REMEDIAL PROPERTIES.

Cures Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Sick and Nervous Headache, General Debility, Nervousness, Depression of Spirits, Constipation, Colic, Intermittent Fevers, Sea Sickness, Cramps and Spasms and all complaints of either sex arising from Bodily Weakness, whether inherent in the system or PRODUCED BY SPECIAL CAUSES.

NOTHING THAT IS NOT WHOLESOME, GENIAL, and restorative in its nature, enters into the composition of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. This popular preparation contains no mineral of any kind; no deadly botanical element; no fiery excitant; but is a combination of the extracts of rare balsamic herbs and plants, with the purest and mildest of all diffusive stimulants.

The weak stomach is rapidly invigorated, and the appetite restored by this Tonic, and hence it works wonders in cases of Dyspepsia, and in less confirmed forms of Indigestion. Acting as a gentle and painless aperient, as well as upon the liver, it also invariably relieves the Constipation superinduced by irregular action of the digestive and secretive organs.

Persons of feeble habit, liable to Nervous Attacks, Lowness of Spirits, and Fits of Languor, find prompt and permanent relief from the Bitters. The testimony on this point is conclusive, and from both sexes.

As a Genuine Tonic, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS [illegible] effects which must be experienced or witnessed before they can be fully appreciated. In cases of Constitutional Weakness, Premature Decay, and Debility and Decrepitude arising from old age, it exercises the electric influence. In the convalescent stages of all diseases it operates as a delightful invigorant. When the powers of nature are relaxed, it operates to re-enforce and re-establish them.

Last, but not least, it is the only safe stimulant, being manufactured from sound and innocuous materials, and entirely free from the acrid elements present more or less in all the ordinary tonics and stomachics of the day.

CHARTRES COFFEE!

Manufactory Established in June, 1851.

STEAM POWER, NOS. 625 AND 627 FRONT ST.

HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities. CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.

The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

The Democracy and the Presidency

THE SEYMOUR MOVEMENT

The New York Leader, an old and reliable reflex of Democratic sentiment in the Eastern States, comes out for Seymour and Hancock for President and Vice President. The Leader remarks:

This is done after a careful survey of the situation, and with deliberate conviction that the Democracy of the Union can be more thoroughly and harmoniously united upon Horatio Seymour as their standard bearer than upon any other of national fame who can be named, and that he is probably the only man whose nomination would furnish hope of success for the coming struggle.

Fortunately we have hitherto been without a candidate. The question has been unembarrassed of party committals so as to leave the people free to consider and decide for themselves. It is true, we have had sectional [illegible] and preferences that for a time threatened to complicate the canvass and to make it appear that efforts would be [illegible] a nomination at the expense of success, and to surrender the cause to the [illegible] of a mere political intrigue. But on all hands we discover of late a more [illegible] and statesmanlike determination among our leading men to accomplish an [illegible] without regard for aspirations of any particular individual to the barren honor of a hopeless nomination.

We have had the name of Farragut, McClellan, [illegible], and others, in active canvass for the nomination, but the conviction is now very general that neither of these gentlemen is the man for the crisis.

We [illegible] a very high appreciation of the abilities of Mr Pendleton, but we think this is not the time for him to seek an endorsement of his claims for the office of [illegible]. In common with many other distinguished men of our party in Ohio and the West, he entertained sentiments upon the question of the war at variance with the Democracy of this section of the Union. He is a bold and outspoken man, and he did not hesitate to frankly [illegible] and maintain [illegible]. These questions have been [illegible] him, and it seems to us that he must bide his time for a new order of things and another and more fitting period. He differs from many of the leading statesmen of our party in the great Democratic States [illegible] issues before the country while [illegible] and paramount questions [illegible] to the front. [illegible] cannot regularly arise for many years, and only tend now by agitation to divert the [illegible] of the people, and compromise the paramount question of [illegible]. When a man's life is at stake, and he is engaged in the death grapple, he cannot conveniently give his time or his [illegible] to the question how he can best pay his future debts, and maintain his existing financial credit.

[illegible] is in favor of extinguishing our [illegible] debt by the unlimited issue of [illegible], without adequate provision for the redemption of the currency thus created. This may not [illegible] ultimate repudiation, but it will require a stronger government and [illegible] than we possess at present and [illegible] still in financial management than [illegible] to prevent such result. It is a new [illegible], subordinate, and at this time [illegible] upon which we cannot [illegible] party. Already regarding the questions which this issue has suggested, we hear the cry [illegible] of "rebellion and repudiation." It is not wise to allow this cry to go [illegible] from the mouth of clamor. The [illegible] States must, by their representatives, [illegible] their conviction that unity cannot be secured nor well founded hopes of [illegible] be stimulated by the nomination of [illegible]

The War not yet Ended

The [illegible] Republican, published at Chicago, has the [illegible] issue:

"In [illegible] up to the [illegible] rests.

The [illegible] is emphatically true, and in a [illegible] extended sense than that in which [illegible] employed by the hero of Shenandoah. [illegible] have passed over us [illegible] that they can even now be numbered [illegible] since Lee surrendered and the [illegible] of the conquered Confederacy were [illegible], although the authority of the United [illegible] from Alexandria to [illegible] to Wilmington; although the Stars and Stripes float once [illegible] Fort Sumter, and Charleston itself appears to be as mild and gentle as a lamb, yet for all that the war continues to determine the [illegible] question, whether virtual slavery [illegible] is to rule America.

Every [illegible] is changed but one, and that is the [illegible] the tremendous contest [illegible] lost and won. Jefferson Davis [illegible] of [illegible] performs that duty [illegible]. The [illegible] of the [illegible] in the city of Richmond. They have been transferred to Washington. The [illegible] is no longer [illegible]. Instead of the [illegible] and the rifle, the sword and the bayonet, we have now got construction acts and Presidential [illegible] and vetoes, stump speeches [illegible]. The ballot has taken the place of the bullet. But the cause of the conflict is [illegible] tually the same, and that is as we have said, whether [illegible] is to be the dominating principle on this American continent.

Since the Confederacy collapsed, and President Lincoln was [illegible], the Chief Magistrate of the United States has been the [illegible] rebel against the national authority. This is more than an anomaly. It is a scandal and [illegible]. The incident is a terrible one. But the proof is alike positive and plentiful. Did he not, within a few short weeks after the last shot was fired and the last sword [illegible] hand over the authority of nearly half the States of the Union to men who had sacrificed hundreds of thousands of human lives in [illegible] Government? Did he not in the very teeth of [illegible] laws which gave [illegible] to the [illegible], hand him over to the tender mercies of those who [illegible] either to re-enslave or destroy him? Did he not connive at the atrocious [illegible] by his underlings in New Orleans to carry out this infamous purpose? When Congress [illegible] a reconstruction law to raise the oppressed to freedom and to restrain the tyranny of the oppressor, did he not [illegible] to defeat its object? Did he not, for this purpose, [illegible] and endeavor to disgrace the gallant Sheridan? Has he not since recalled, with one exception, all the other generals to whom the task of reconstruction was entrusted by the national will? And has he not set up his tools in their places, whose work will be to deprive the unfortunate colored race of all effectual military protection, and leave them to be so dragooned and cowed by their tyrants that they will not dare to exercise the rights of citizens? By this means reconstruction is to be defeated—the country is to be handed over to the old conservative league of Northern Democrats and Southern enslavers—the cause of equal rights to be crushed, and crime enthroned perpetually in the high places of the great American Republic. What more than this could the slave-holding Confederacy have done even had they triumphed on the field of war? And is not rebellion rampant in the very worst sense when the Chief Executive of the American Union is not only straining his own legitimate power, but usurping that of the other branches of the Government, in order to accomplish a purpose so abominable?"

Robert Browning is writing a poem twice as long as the "Iliad." The English are talking of forming cooperative societies for the purpose of reading it, the undertaking being too great for single handed intellects.

The New York Sun asserts that Admiral Farragut is a great personal friend of General Grant and a more outspoken Radical than General Grant is.

The Tax Repeal Bill

WASHINGTON, April 1

The following is the text of the bill to exempt certain manufactures from international tax and for other purposes as finally passed by both Houses of Congress. This sweeping removal of taxes exempts from taxation nearly all the manufactures of the country:

Section 1. That sections forty nine and ninety four of the act entitled "An act to provide internal revenue to support the government, to pay interest on the public debt and for other purposes," approved June 30, 1864, and all acts and parts of acts amendatory of said section, be, and the same are hereby repealed; excepting only so much of the said sections and amendatory thereto as relates to the taxes imposed thereby on gas made of coal wholly or in part or of any other material for illuminating, lubricating, or other mineral oils or articles, the products of the distillation or distillation or refining of crude petroleum or of any single distillation of coal, shale, peat, asphaltum or other bituminous substances, on wines [illegible] and on snuff and all the other [illegible] of tobacco, including cigarettes, cigars and cheroots; provided that the products of petroleum and bituminous substances hereinbefore mentioned, except illuminating gas, shall from and after the passage of this act be taxed at one-half the rate fixed by [illegible] four.

Sec. 2. That nothing in this bill contained shall be construed to repeal or interfere with any law, regulation or provision for the assessment or collection of any tax which under existing laws may accrue before the 1st day of April, A. D. 1868; and nothing herein contained shall be construed as a repeal of any tax upon machinery or other articles which have been or may be delivered on contracts made with the United States prior to the passage of this act.

Sec. 3. That after the 1st day of June next no drawback of internal taxes paid on manufactures shall be allowed on the exportation of any article of domestic manufacture on which there is no internal tax at the time of exportation, nor shall such drawback be allowed in any case unless it shall be proved by sworn evidence, in writing to the satisfaction of the Commissioners of Internal Revenue that the tax has been paid, and that such articles of manufacture were, prior to the 1st day of April 1868, actually purchased or actually manufactured and contracted for, to be delivered for such exportation, and no claim for such drawback or for any drawback of internal tax on exportations made prior to the passage of this act, shall be paid unless presented to the Commissioners of Internal Revenue before the first day of October 1868.

Sec. 4. That every person, firm or corporation who shall manufacture by hand or machinery, any goods, wares or merchandise, (breadstuffs and unmanufactured lumber excepted) not otherwise specially taxed as such, or who shall be engaged in the manufacture or preparation for sale of any articles or compounds not otherwise specially taxed, or shall put up for sale in packages with his own name or trade mark thereon any articles or compound not otherwise specially taxed, and whose annual sales exceed $5,000, shall pay for every additional $1,000 in excess of $5 000 $2; and the amount of sales in excess of $5 000 per annum shall be returned quarter-yearly to the Assistant Assessor, and the tax on the excess of $5,000 shall be assessed by the Assessor and paid quarter-yearly in the months of January, April, July and October of each year as other taxes are assessed and paid, and the first assessment herein provided for shall be made in the month of July, 1868, for the three months then next preceding.

Sec. 5. That every person engaged in carrying on the business of a distiller who shall defraud or attempt to defraud the United States of the tax on the spirits distilled by him or any part thereof, shall forfeit the distillery and distilling apparatus used by him and all distilled spirits and all raw materials for the production of distilled spirits found in the distillery premises, and shall on conviction be fined not less than $500 nor more than $5,000, and be imprisoned not less than six months nor more than three years.

Sec. 6. That if any officer or agent appointed and acting under the authority of any revenue law of the United States shall be guilty of gross neglect in the discharge of any of the duties of his office, or shall conspire or collude with any other person to defraud the United States, or shall make opportunity for any person to defraud the United States or shall do, or omit to do any act with intent to defraud the United States, or shall make or sign any false certificate or return in any case where he is by law or regulation required to make a certificate or return, or having knowledge or information of the violation of any revenue law by any person, or of fraud committed by any person against the United States under any revenue law of the United States, shall fail to report in writing such knowledge or information to his next superior officer, and to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, he shall, on conviction, be fined not less than $1,000 nor more than $5 000, and shall be imprisoned not less than six months nor more than three years.

Sec. 7. That no compromise, discontinuance, nolle prosequi of any prosecution under this act shall be allowed without the permission in writing of the Secretary of the Treasury and the Attorney General.

It is ever the case with effervescent material that to be very sparkling it must be thoroughly bottled. This has proved to be the case with Gen. Butler—the tighter the place the greater the "pop." The General while in active practice in Massachusetts was a terror and torment to Judges of thin caliber. On one occasion Judge Sanger having been bullied and badgered out of all patience, petulantly asked, "What does the counsel suppose I am on this bench for?" Scratching his head a minute, Benjamin F. replied, "Well, I confess your Honor's got me there!"

IN MEMORIAM.—The Rochester Democrat proposes a monument in honor of the defunct Democracy, and offers the following as an inscription:

Hic Jacet!
THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY,
A kind husband of
SLAVERY,
An indulgent father of
RIOTS,
And a firm friend of REBELLION.

Two negroes in Texas, falling in love with the same woman, were induced by her to fight a duel, she having promised to reward with her hand and heart the conqueror. A squad of idle soldiers constituted themselves as seconds, took the two lovers into the woods, armed them with muskets and put them twenty paces apart. It seems that one of the principals had loaded his musket with an immense load of powder and a handful of musket balls. When his gun fired everything fell before him. He killed his adversary, wounded four of his seconds, and had his own breastworks seriously injured.

A famous Judge came late to Court one day in busy session, whereat his clerk in the great surprise, inquired of him the reason. "A child was born, his Honor said, and I'm the happy sire." "An infant Judge?" "Oh no," said he, "as yet he's but a crier."

UNION PLATFORM.

1. Resolved, That it is the highest duty of every American citizen to maintain against all their enemies the integrity of the Union and the paramount authority of the Constitution and laws of the United States, and to preserve at the ballot box the fruits of the late war.

2. Resolved, That the work of reconstruction of the Southern States belongs to the legislative department of the government, and that we endorse the thirteenth and fourteenth amendments to the Constitution and the acts of Congress commonly called the reconstruction acts as the best plan yet proposed for the restoration of the States lately in rebellion to their former relations to the Federal Government.

3. Resolved, That we are in favor of admitting the rebel States to representation in Congress at the earliest practical moment which the public safety will permit.

4. Resolved, That the national debt was necessarily contracted to save the national life and ought to be honestly paid, and we condemn every scheme looking to the repudiation of the whole or any part of the debt as disgraceful to the Republic and unjust to its citizens and that the [illegible] legal tender notes those debts [illegible] only a milder term for repudiation.

5. Resolved, [illegible] the Constitution, the Federal Government [illegible] with the elective franchise in [illegible] in Congress and where [illegible] by rebellion.

6. Resolved, That the right of [illegible] is the natural and inherent right of all, and indispensable to the enjoyment of the rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness [illegible] owes allegiance to the Government, the Government owes protection to the citizen, and that it is the duty of the Government of the United States [illegible] native born and naturalized, [illegible] of their rights as citizens of the United States, [illegible] ever and under whatever color or pretence those rights may be invaded.

7. Resolved, That the immigration which in the past has added so much to the wealth, development of resources, and increase of power of this nation, the asylum of the [illegible] of all nations, should be fostered and encouraged by a liberal and just policy; and that we sympathize with all people everywhere who are struggling for civil and religious liberty.

8. Resolved, That the thanks of the American people are due to the soldiers and sailors of the army and navy who have periled their lives in defense of their country and in vindication of the honor of its flag; that the nation owes to them some permanent recognition of their patriotism and their valor and ample and permanent provision for those of their survivors who have received disabling and honorable wounds in the service of their country, and that the memories of those who have fallen in its defense shall be held in grateful and everlasting remembrance.

9. Resolved, That we are in favor of liberal appropriations of land and money, by the Government, to aid in the construction of railroads.

H. W. SHIPLEY & CO.,
MANUFACTURERS OF
SHIPLEY'S PATENT PACIFIC
TURBINE WATER WHEEL!

OF WHICH THE ABOVE IS AN ILLUSTRATION. It has FOUR SETS OF BUCKETS AND USES THREE FOURTHS OF THE WATER TWICE.

The old high priced, unequalled and unrivalled wheel has been eclipsed by a fair working trial made by Mr H. Kelly at his saw mill and the public can see what he says as to the capacity of the two wheels in the following testimonial over his own signature:

Mr. H. W. Shipley—Sir: In reply to your inquiry as to how I like your Pacific Turbine Wheel I have to say that I have used one over shot and three Leffel wheels 10, 13 and 15 inch diameters. When I substituted your [illegible] inch wheel for the 13 inch Leffel wheel, though unfinished it worked the [illegible] using 52 ft of water per minute more than the 13 inch Leffel. At your request I adjusted [illegible] wheel so that it might be finished, and then [illegible] inch Leffel, but it gave no better power than yours, while it used 52 cubic feet more water per minute. After a month's use I replaced your wheel and am still using it with the most satisfactory results. I have subjected it to some severe tests. For instance, while running the circular saw in a log which was 15 inches, I ran the planer with a 4 inch knife, cutting from one eighth to one fourth of an inch deep, without the least slacking of the speed. After the above tests I am satisfied that your wheel with gates one eighth of an inch open gives as much power as the Leffel with gates one third open. At half gate your wheel gives double the power of the Leffel at half gate. At full gate the power of yours exceeds that of the Leffel by about twelve per cent. At quarter gate the Leffel is in no comparison with yours at quarter gate.

N. B.—Mr. Shipley was not present at either of the trials of his wheel, being sick at the first and absent from the State at the second trial.
